

Iraq Emergency Appeal

Plea from Iraq

There is no peace in Iraq. Falluja, Ramadi, Naimiyah, Mosul, Karma and other cities are all under siege and attack.

With last year's onslaught of Falluja still fixed in our memories, the latest attack on the city has destroyed the landscape beyond recognition. The entire city of Falluja, still home to almost 300,000 people, has been sealed off for many days, with no water or electricity.

Hundreds, possibly thousands of civilians have already been killed, and there is no end in sight to the killing. Hospitals in Falluja are short of vital supplies and cannot cope. Children lie in makeshift clinics in surrounding villages, unable to speak from the shock of seeing their family members killed before their eyes.

Muslim Hands, with the help of local partners, has already sent in vital humanitarian aid, including one ambulance unit, medical equipment and medicines for hospitals...but it is not enough. We are also helping some of the families who have fled from Falluja to Baghdad by providing them accommodation and food.

We must provide food parcels, clothing, mattresses and medical care for them now.
